TOBOGGAN DISC GOLF COURSE

GREAT LAKES OPEN / TOBOGGAN HISTORY

The Great Lakes Open (GLO) history goes back to 1983 when then Tournament Director Bob Huston (3X GLO winner) held the event at Starr-Jaycee Park in Royal Oak, Michigan. Bob went on to TD the event for 12 years and his wife Sueanne was the TD once. The GLO has been an NT 6 times and has been at the Toboggan course 3 times in its history. This will be its 4th time here. Elaine King has won the GLO a record 9 times while Ken Climo has won it 6 times. The GLO has been a PDGA A Tier 23 times.

The Kensington Toboggan Disc Golf Course was created for the Discraft PDGA Pro/Am World's in 2000. Course designer and Discraft owner Jim Kenner created an epic experience that people still talk about today. In 2002, the United States Amateur Disc Golf Championships (USADGC) moved onto the Toboggan and the course became the events home course. Every year since, the Toboggan goes in specifically for the PDGA Amateur Major and then it gets removed immediately after. Todd White was the USADGC initial Tournament Director whose first champion was Scott Burnett #20173, from Ohio.

Combined with the GLO title sponsor Discraft, the entire GLO staff including many members from the Michigan Disc Golf Organization (MDGO), and the amazing Kensington Metropark staff who are instrumental in getting this course installed for such a short period of time per year, we hope you enjoy yourself watching some of the best players in the world attempt to set records on the Toboggan Disc Golf Course.
