

2022 Disc Golf Pro Tour Media Licensing Policy and Process Outline

Overview

The DGPT provides licensing of photos for promotional and commercial use via an online photo-sharing platform called SmugMug. Video licensing requests can be made by reaching out to our media team who will work with you on a package that suits your needs.

Licensing Photos

All photo licensing can be done automatically via SmugMug. Navigate to our SmugMug website and browse through our event galleries to find the photos you'd like to license. You can select one or multiple photos and proceed with your licensing purchase directly on the website.

Licensing Video Footage

If you are a member of an event team or the presenting partner of an event, you're allowed limited commercial use rights of Disc Golf Network footage at the event(s). For example, presenting partners can perform commercial filming at DGPT events prior to competition with approval from the media department. Commercial use is limited to approved camera crews and presenting partners who can use DGN-generated media for promotional use during competition. Partners and event teams cannot license DGN-generated media to third parties, but they can use it to promote a product on social media. For groups & scenarios that don't fit the description above, we also provide the ability for our partners to license specific video content from the Disc Golf Network. These requests are handled on a case by cases basis and are always associated with a licensing fee. To discuss a request for video licensing, please email production@dgpt.com.
